This is an extract from Lawbook Company's Nutshell: Evidence by Robert Wilson (Sydney: LBC, 1999, 1st ed). LBC Nutshells are the essential revision tool: they provide a concise outline of the principles for each of the major subject areas within undergraduate law. WARNING: God in a Nutshell may challenge some traditional, spiritual & scientific dogmas. As a side effect, some of it may actually be right. Frances Glessner Lee (March 25, 1878 – January 27, 1962) was influential in developing the science of forensics in the United States. To this end, she created the Nutshell Studies of Unexplained Death, 20 true crime scene dioramas recreated in minute detail at dollhouse scale, used for training homicide investigators. Eighteen of the Nutshell Studies of Unexplained Death are still in use for ... Forensic science is the application of science to criminal and civil laws, mainly—on the criminal side—during criminal investigation, as governed by the legal standards of admissible evidence and criminal procedure.. Forensic scientists collect, preserve, and analyze scientific evidence during the course of an investigation. While some forensic scientists travel to the scene of the crime ...
