The 500 is internally designated as the Type 312 by FCA.Has anyone had an issue with the electronic handbrake? Mine has stuck on and nothing will release it. I've connected every seat belt in the car, even though it's only me in it, I've switched the engine on and off a hundred times, I've tried the little manual switch between the passenger seat and driver seat - nothing.Its not corrosion thats the issue with the syncros its erroson. The gl5 additives bond with the surfaces forming a hard coating. In the case of the brass/bronze syncros this coating gets stripped off mechanically and each time this takes some material with it.
