The Road to recovery is Paved with dog Treats! was written to help children understand what happens when their pet has to have surgery, and reassures them that their pet will be safe and protected. Parents can use this book as a tool to start a conversation with their child regarding issues they may have about their pet. The Road to Recovery is Paved with Dog Treats is a children's animal picture book written by Patricia A. Brill, Ph.D. and illustrated by Curt Walstead. Turbo is a boxer who has a lot of experience going to the vet. He's had three surgeries, and he's the perfect companion for any animal who's waiting for surgery and is frightened of being there. Patricia Brill continues her Dog Tales Collection with a compelling tale about healing an injured pet in her children's picture book, The Road to Recovery is Paved with Dog Treats! Turbo, the dog featured in Brill's other Dog Tales picture books Do Bad Dogs Get Cancer? and Don't Say Good Bye Just Say See You!, is a veteran of several surgeries.
