

Download Wound Care Coding Guidelines

Since ICD-10 has been fully implemented, podiatry practices are expected to provide the most accurate coding possible. This author offers a practical guide to diagnostic coding for ulcers and wounds, and pertinent insights on the nuances of adding fifth, sixth and seventh characters to your coding for ulcers and wounds. With the susceptibility diabetics have for losing feeling in their feet — a condition called loss of protective sensation, or LOPS — good foot care is vital for people with diabetes. Quickly be on top of the latest evidence and reimbursement data. Wound Care Knowledge Base - Provide optimal wound care treatment and prevention with evidence-based, graded recommendations; Hyperbaric Oxygen Therapy Knowledge Base - Make the right decisions at the point-of-care with reliable clinical and operational support: evidence-based treatment protocols, orders, safety guidelines, coding ... Whenever your skin is injured – whether by accident or from surgery – your body works to repair the wound. As your skin heals, a scar may form, as this is a natural part of the healing process. The appearance of a scar often depends on how well the wound heals. While scars from surgery or over ...